

JUNE 2007 NEWSLETTER

Special Father's Day offer!

Some dads like to whip up things in the kitchen, while some prefer to preside over a grill. And some just like to open a bottle or can. But every dad likes to eat...

Please the dads in your life this Father's Day with a gift of tsp spices — or with a treat made from these powerful little flavor packets.

In honor of all fathers, we're offering our newsletter readers a web-only special — 10 percent off orders of one item, 20 percent off orders of 2 or 3 items, and 30 percent off orders of 4 or more items.

Just place your order, then send an email to specials@tspices.com with "Father's Day Special" in the message header and your name in the text. We'll credit your account.

Feel free to forward this offer to family and friends!

Offer good through June 17.

Spice Enlightenment...

We've gotten some great suggestions from customers, and here are a few:

- Mary loves to cook greens this time of year, but she is always looking for ways to cut back on fat and calories while boosting flavor. She says a packet or two of ancho chile does the trick.
- Rose reports that she added orange zest and ancho chile to a recent batch of hamburgers. Her family ate them in record time.

A Twin Set for your tips

Next month's newsletter will feature ideas for grilling with tsp spices. Send us your favorite tips, or your favorite spice-friendly grill recipes.

We'll include a few in the newsletter. We'll also send a Twin Set of his/her choice to the cook who sends in the tip or recipe that most strikes our fancy. Send your tips and recipes to recipes@tspices.com.

Best of Show!

tsp spices won top honors at the Gourmet Housewares Show in Orlando last month. The Gourmet Gold competition assesses new culinary products on such things as quality, innovation, design and consumer appeal.

We brought home a beautiful awards platter naming tsp spices Best of Show.

Breakfast for Dad

Treat Dad to Spiced Pancakes on June 17. These breakfast treats disappear fast, so be sure to make a double batch.

We'd love to hear your own ideas for Spice Enlightenment. Send them to sara@tspices.com.
